

3rd Annual Frostbite Folf

By The Lumber Jack, John F. Affonso

It was a brisk sunny Saturday morning, January 18, when 27 hardy souls from all over New England showed up at Miantanomi Park in Newport, RI, for two rounds of 27 holes of disc golf.

"Choke" Dyer, tournament director, put on a spectacular lunch with chili, fruit, and more chili. He also added a new award this year: The Lumber Jack. For each solid rejection (whack) of a disc by a tree, a player made a hatch mark on the scorecard. The player with the most hatches at the end of the day received the award. After the first round, Charles Parker and I were tied with 12 hatches each. The second round proved there was only one hack master, myself, with 19 hacks in 54 holes. I know it sounds like I enjoyed it; I didn't. But it is always fun being with my fellow folfers.

"The Tower", Miantanomi Park

But to get serious, in the first round Peter Anderson jumped out to the lead with an even par, especially fantastic on this course considering the windy conditions and the added rock rings. Bob DeCosta was second with 4 over and Toddy Brodeur was third with 7 over.

In the second round, the pressure was on! Bob caught Peter at the end of the final 27 to force a sudden-death playoff. DeCosta won on the third hole by sinking a soft putt into a rock ring to capture his first NEFA win.

For awards, all competitors received a disc of their choice from an amazing selection provided by Jason Southwick.

Here's a little ditty about lumberjacking:

I'm a Lumber Jack and I'm O.K.
Hit-tin' trees with my discs all day!

By the way, Jason, thanks for the Bearcat; they're unbreakable, don't you know.

Frostbite Results continued on Page 4

New England's TWO World's Biggest Disc Golf Tourneys

On May 9, 1992, Miantanomi Park in Newport, Rhode Island, and Wachusett Mountain Ski Area in Princeton, Massachusetts, will host The World's Biggest Disc Golf Tournament. Over 20,000 people in over 200 cities around the world will be playing, in hopes of introducing disc golf to newcomers and creating positive publicity for the sport. Tournament directors Tim Dyer (Newport) and Steve Hartwell (Princeton) expect over 200 participants each, and pray for good weather!

The entry fee for each site is $10, with each participant signing up for a tee time, playing one round, and receiving at least an Innova golf disc and a T-shirt. Prizes will be awarded in several categories, and the media will be promoting both events. It's a great deal and a major happening, so don't miss it!

All NEFA members are encouraged to come and support the cause. Even better, bring three friends and/or volunteer to lend a hand for an hour slot sometime during the day. Even better, schedule your tee times to play both courses the same day! Hurry, though, if you want to participate, for the registration deadline is April 20. For more information, call Tim for Newport at (401) 846-3236 and Steve for Princeton at (508) 664-2888.

President's Hole

By Steve Hartwell

NEFA is flying into the new year with lots of z's. Membership continues to grow and enthusiasm has been high, with strong turnouts already at the Frostbite and Oak Grove tournaments.

Over the winter, we've seen major progress on three fronts towards installing a permanent disc golf course in New England. Theo and Jude Cade have a good lead on some prime land near Wachusett Mountain. T.M. Dyer continues to strengthen his relationship with Miantanomi Park and hopes to submit a formal proposal within a few months. Greg Black has received the go ahead to work on a course at Normandy Farms campground. These efforts are greatly appreciated by all of us in NEFA; let's give these people all the support they need!

In addition to the typical tournament schedule in past years, we'll try some new wrinkles in 1992 (see Upcoming Events section). Theo's disc golf doubles tournament in Princeton will kick off a series of doubles events that hopefully will become a new NEFA tradition. Toddy Brodeur is working on a No Disc Golf For A Change tournament, with Freestyle and the field events being emphasized instead.

And of course, here's the dues reminder. This is your last issue of NEFA News unless you've renewed your membership for 1992; please see the form enclosed with this newsletter.

NEFA Officers

President:	Steve Hartwell	(508) 664-2888
Vice President:	T. M. Dyer	(401) 846-3236
Treasurer:	Rick Williams	(617) 666-5936
Membership:	Jason Southwick	(508) 798-0704
Board:	Theo "Sunny" Cade	(508) 464-5497
	Tiina Booth	(413) 549-0364

Newsletter Editor: Steve Hartwell

Associate Editors: Rick Williams, Joy Hartwell

Feel free to contact us with ideas or suggestions

Pictures of 1991

Borderland Awards: Greg and Allison "give it" to Richard Holzberg

Normandy Farms: Black & Brodeur battle at New England's DDC

Pyramids: The Rick and Judy Jam

Airmail

Dear Editor,

I'd like to salute 1991. It was a fine year for disc sports in New England. Thanks go to NEFA officers and staff for the hard work and dedication. The flying disc family spirit is alive and well throughout the world in places like Japan and Europe and also in our own corner. It's because of grass roots organizations like NEFA.

Next I'd like to thank and give my support to the folks at Wham-O. Dan "Stork" Roddick and company perform many good deeds for the sport. By the way, NEFA president Steve Hartwell, got a big nod from Stork at the World Flying Disc Federation meeting on the fine job Steve has done on the PDGA Disc Golf Course Directory.

Now about disc etiquette. It is so important to our sport's future to present it in a positive manner. Be aware of what you are doing and what you say when you are playing disc games. We are in the public eyes. Let's keep the sport clean. Refrain from obscene language, illegal behavior and conduct yourself in a professional manner. To get the public to respect disc sports, you must have respectable disc players involved in the sport.

About dogs. What's fair? If you bring yours, I'll bring mine? NOT! Every dog should be left at home. Who is to judge a good dog or a bad one? So what if it's leashed. I am not going to hold it while you putt. Maybe I should bring my 115 lb. Great Dane. Imagine Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicklaus taking their mutts on the golf course, "Excuse me caddy, can you hold my dog while I drive?"

I have been going to tournaments for 10 years. I started going to watch freestyle. It is still my favorite event. I wish more people would practice freestyle. Some claim it's a dying artform. I disagree. That is why you should join the "Society for the Preservation of Freestyle Disc". Do it before it's too late. Please jam if you can, teach others your moves, and learn some new moves of your own.

Thank you to Jude "Stones" Cade for all the good chow at Normandy Farms and everyone else who helped feed hungry frisbee players last year.

Yours truly,
Todd Brodeur

Roy Doar of Newmarket, New Hampshire, journeyed to the Carolinas on business for a week in January. With the help of the PDGA Course Directory, Roy found the disc golf course in Rock Hill, South Carolina, and played a round. He was inspired enough to write a open letter to Harold Duvall, the course pro at Rock Hill, and share his experience with him -- and also with you.

Dear Harold,

I'm sitting in my New Hampshire kitchen with a bad case of writers' block. Not even fresh ground double chocolate macadamia seems to be helping turn the story of my round at Rock Hill into something very readable. So I thought I'd drop you a line to first thank you for excellent directions, and second share some of my experiences playing your course.

I played on Monday, January 30, 1992, in fairly nice weather, steady wind out of the northwest and high thin clouds -- much better than the average for New England disc golf this time of year. Holes 3 and 4 played long into the wind. I really liked 6, 7, and 8, but 9 was brutal with a pond, length and tricky pin placement. I was 3 over for the front nine, and then the fun began!

Try as I might, I couldn't find the 10th tee. The markers were either gone or well hidden, so I chose a spot on the same rise as the 9th hole that seemed tee-like, but right in front of some folks out for a picnic lunch. More passers-by on 11. This time it's a fellow and his two kids fishing. I walked up and explained the disc golf concept: "yeah, that thing on the hill...no, I've got three shots to get it there...heads up...thanks!" I'm thinking "great, another gallery" instead of "stay right, stay dry". So I watch my stable NEFA cobra hug the shoreline of the pond and then fall off left into the drink!

Ugh! I was obviously not the first, as I borrowed the disc-retrieval "rake" under the bushes and got to work searching for my disc. It went in right there at the beginning of those bushes, about ten feet out. It seemed shallow enough, but the murk and mud were difficult -- if I only had waders! Anyway, I'm telling you this because I'd rather not think of it as my first lost disc, red, with the electric blue hotstamp and my name on the back.

Oh well, back to the round. 12 thru 16 were fun holes. Despite the lost plastic and strokes on 11 (or maybe because of), I bagged two birdies and nearly aced 13 off a tree carom. As I savored a moment on the 17th tee, I realized that there aren't too many of us out there who would do a four-hour round trip for a two-hour round of golf. Pole holes in the ground, such a scarce commodity in New England, seem to give the sport such validity. It might even inspire me to approach the powers that be at the University of New Hampshire and sell them on the idea.

So thanks again for your time and info, and best wishes for '92. "May life's circles be your spin."

Sincerely,
Roy Doar,
PDGA #1889

Frostbite continued from Page 1

Results: Men's Open

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Bob DeCosta	85	86	171
2	Peter Anderson	81	90	171
3	Toddy Brodeur	88	88	176
4	Felix Harvey	96	87	183
5	Theo Cade	89	98	187
5	T.M. Dyer	92	95	187
7	Mark Johnston	90	98	188
7	Collin Browne	93	95	188
9	Steve Hartwell	99	91	190
10	Brent Sanderson	93	99	192
11	Dale Fuller	97	97	194
12	John Affonso	95	102	197
13	Christian Lolseau	102	96	198
14	Scooter Feely	105	99	204

Quiz answer: The 1992 Cushing Invitational, Newport, RI

Men's Advanced

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	John Rushlow	97	96	193
2	Charles M. Parker	104	99	203
3	Jim Malone	104	100	204
4	Alan Neal	99	110	209

Men's Novice

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Craig Behymer	95	95	190
2	Scott Berman	105	109	214
3	Richard Little	110	107	217
4	Jay Heline	109	111	220
4	Ed Garabedian	115	105	220
6	T. J. Murphy	118	106	224
7	Greg Flatt	122	123	245

Women's Open

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Joy Hartwell	114	112	226

Women's Amateur

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Samantha Scott	140	126	266

"My Aunt Don't Know Me" Skins Classic

by Bob DeCosta

On March 14, 1992, fifteen hard core disc golfers got together to play some serious skins. Of course, the real reason for this get together was to pick up trash in Miantanomi Park in Newport, Rhode Island. Those of us here in Newport, hence forth known as the Miantanomi Marauders, would like to thank all of those present for your support in these cleanup efforts; it's been one of the big reasons that we have been able to gain the confidence of the local powers-that-be. And we ask for your continued support of what has become a tradition for us. Each piece of trash we remove brings us one step closer to our goal of installing a permanent disc golf course in Miantanomi Park. Thank you...thank you...thank you.

Now on to golf. The skins round was pretty darn exciting. The weather was almost perfect -- 35 degrees, stiff breeze, and of course, muddy tees. All of this had no effect on Pete Anderson, who threw a smoking +2 to secure the best score in the Open division. Alan Neal was equally impressive in the amateur division which he dominated. Top money, $28, went to Alan, followed by Jason Southwick and Bob DeCosta with $16, and Pete with $15. And of course, nobody got paid until the trash had been picked up.

In the afternoon, four pairs of doubles went out to gamble some more. The hot pairs were Anderson and T.M. Dyer vs. Southwick and DeCosta. When the smoke cleared, Southwick and DeCosta prevailed by two strokes with -8.

In closing, the Rhode Island Disc Championship Committee wants to remind you to be sure to sign up for the World's Biggest Disc Golf Tournament by April 20; there are two sites, so there's no excuse for not showing up on May 9. Also, mark your calendar for July 18 and October 3 for the 16th Annual Rhode Island States and the 2nd Annual Cushing Invitational.

The Miantanomi Marauders would like to invite you to play a round with us on any Sunday afternoon; tee time 2 p.m., weather or not!

The Oak Grove Open

by Andy Hizer

The name "Oak Grove" is synonymous with Disc Golf, with a rich tradition and heritage. Located in Pasadena, California, the Oak Grove Disc Golf Course is known as the world's first permanent, public, polehole course. Ahh, but there is another Oak Grove course, at Oak Grove Farms in Millis, Massachusetts, which proved to be worthy of its name at the Oak Grove Open, played on March 28. The rolling hills and cedar tree setting was just right (despite the raw weather) for this commemorative tournament to celebrate disc golf.

TD Todd Brodeur put on a magnificent event with shotgun quickness, having only secured permission to use Oak Grove Farms three weeks prior. His course design was flawless, with a combination of short and long, narrow and wide, left and right -- altogether fun! In addition, Sunny Cade played an important role with his ideas on "safety-first" pin placements, ensuring no blind pins and awareness of stray shots.

In a field of 32 golfers, Toddy Brodeur, whose first and last victory was at the '91 New England's at Normandy Farms, heated up on the back 9 to come in at 5 under for the first round. Steve Hartwell posted a solid 50, though, to keep things interesting. This year's Frostbite winner, Bob DeCosta, was tied with Dale Fuller at 53 for third.

The second round saw temperatures drop and scores rise, setting up a classic battle between Brodeur and Hartwell. Toddy birdied #2 for a two-stroke lead. Steve battled back to tie with a bird and two pars on #s 3, 4 and 5, while Todd bogied #5. Steve took the lead with a bird on #6.

But it was not to be for Mr. Hartwell, with bogeys on #9 and #13, and Todd shooting a steady string of pars plus a 25-foot birdie putt on #14. As Brodeur cruised to victory down the back stretch, one observer was heard to remark, "He was so hot, his shorts were made of asbestos!"

In the other divisions, Christian Loiseau took first in Advanced Men, with Scott Berman and Jim Malone close behind. In Novice Men, Greg Flatt beat out Scott Pyle and Mike Cosato for the prize. Kyle Black, Joy Hartwell, and Samantha Scott swept Juniors, Open Women and Novice Women, respectively, as the only entrants.

To round out the day, a short Discathon course was designed on the spot, weaving among the cedar trees. Toddy, Rick Williams, Petri Isola and T. M. Dyer made it to the final heat, with Toddy besting the bunch. Other highlights were Joy beating Steve by a nose, and several discs falling prey to the cedar trees. After Discathon, a short Freestyle jam loosened everyone up for the awards ceremony.

TD Brodeur made sure winners went home happy, with great Oak Grove commemorative discs and t-shirts for prizes. He was very thankful for his support staff, for the encouraging attendance, and for the privilege of using the rolling grounds of Oak Grove Farms. And we all thank him for a memorable and fun-filled time!

Golf Results: Open Pro

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Todd Brodeur	49	52	101
2	Steve Hartwell	50	54	104
3	Dave Johnson	57	52	109
4	Dale Fuller	53	57	110
4	Theo Cade	55	55	110
6	Jim O'Hara	54	57	111
7	Bob DeCosta	53	59	112
7	Colin Browne	55	57	112
7	Rick Williams	58	54	112
10	T. M. Dyer	58	55	113
11	Felix Harvey	57	58	115
11	Petri Isola	60	55	115
13	Greg Black	57	60	117
14	John Rushlow	58	60	118
15	Brent Sanderson	59	60	119

Men's Advanced

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Christian Loiseau	55	59	114
2	Scott Berman	57	58	115
3	Jim Malone	59	58	117
4	Jay Heline	58	61	119
4	Doug Russell	57	62	119
6	Lee Perloff	60	60	120
7	John Affonso	61	60	121
8	Steve Galor	59	68	127
9	Mark Miller	71	60	131

Men's Novice

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Greg Flatt	64	60	124
2	Scott Pyle	62	67	129
2	Mike Cosato	64	65	129
4	Jeff Blaney	73	71	144
5	Glen Sullivan	90	84	174

Women's Pro

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Joy Hartwell	66	68	134

Women's Amateur

Place	Name	1	2	Total
1	Samantha Scott	78	78	156

The Inner Game of Folf

by Dave Johnson, Official NEFA Philosopher

My composure on the disc golf links over the years has been widely admired, and in recent times I have been mobbed by players begging me to tell them my secrets of calmness under even the most adverse conditions. So as a special treat to disc golfers everywhere, revealed here for the first time, as a special gift to all who seek to achieve my level of serenity, here are the secrets to My Inner Game of Folf...

...It's a lovely day at Borderland State Park. It's my turn to throw on Hole #7, where if you're not careful you end up in the ooze at the bottom of the ceremonial pool that guards the pin. That is, most players worry. But not me. I'm so ozoned in, I'm about to hit a hole in one. This moment is mine, and I've earned it! I've been breaking my back improving myself for years -- EST, Transcendental Meditation, Assertiveness training, Obedience school; I've gone through them all. I've even become my own best friend, just like the book says I can! I've been part of any number of support groups -- the Son of Father's Group, Circumcised Anonymous, the K-Mart Withdrawal Network; I know myself inside out, I think. It's a beautiful day. My throw will be perfect! Making sure everyone is watching, I go into my windup. Perfectly visualized, it's just me, the basket and ...

MOM??

It's HER. She's somehow popped into the middle of my perfect moment!

"Uh, Mom, what brings you here just now?" I ask, remaining calm.

"Silly question for someone frittering his life away like a dingaling!"

"But Mom, it's the weekend and I'm having fun doing something I love, and impressing all my friends."

"Stop having fun."

"But why?"

"Because we brought you up to be God-fearing and serious and to work your way up to management in an S&L bank."

"But Mom, you know that I'd much rather throw discs."

"You've outgrown that, son. Anyone your age should be holding pool parties, snuffing out dandelions and wearing boxer shorts."

"Mom, you know I'd rather enroll in Advanced Slam Dancing than do all that!"

"OK son, have it your way -- go ahead and throw your life away. Just remember I'll be watching your every move!"

With a titanic effort I shrug her out of my mind, and get back my shattered composure. I step up to the line, take a deep breath, and...

"FOOT FAULT!"

"Mom, that's not fair, I haven't even thrown yet!"

"But, I know it'll happen; mothers always know," she says smugly.

I have but one weapon against so powerful force as a mother. I utter the secret word to summon my spiritual guide, U Rompa-Rooma. He's never failed to help me in a tight spot, and sure enough, he soon arrives doing a saintly trot that reminds me of Mother Theresa competing in discathion.

"Oh master," I say, "please help; my mother here is interfering with the flight path of my folf game. Everything you taught me, I'm in danger of losing!"

"Hmmm," he replies after a moment's reflection.

"She's staring at me so hard, my discs are lactating!"

"Hmmm," he replies.

"She's even telling me to grow up!"

"Hmmm," he replies.

"Is that all you can say, 'Hmmm', after all I've paid you?"

"Hmmmmmmm."

Suddenly he's levitating in front of me, deep in a trance, and I notice the "Do Not Disturb" sign draped around his neck.

"What a geek," my mother mutters. Then she yells at me, "Stop holding up the circus, son, get it over with and throw!"

It seems I always end up doing what my mother says. I stumble up to the line and let loose -- a wobbling, pigeon-like, anhyzer shot straight into the tree that drapes the ceremonial pool. A pregnant pause, then my Aero plops down into the ooze like a fat offering to a wishing well. I feel like jello in Death Valley, or maybe Maypo on the moon. I had it all. I was in the moment, just a moment ago; the picture of unflappability. I was one with the basket, but now I'm a basket case.

Next, The Inner Game of Folf explores putt composure!

Milliskins '92

by Todd Brodeur

This is the fourth year in a row that a disc tournament has been played on the first weekend in February in New England. The Second Annual Milliskins Disc Golf event took place on a bright blustery Sunday the 2nd. The players were anxious; over $200 in skins money was at stake. Pete Anderson won top money with $26.50. T.M. Dyer won as many skins as Pete and $24. Sunny Cade and Charlie played well, taking $24 and $21 apiece. Good food and drink were consumed afterwards. Everyone enjoyed!

Short Shots

NEFA News Back Issues

Follow our evolution! Get one issue or the complete set. Send $1 per issue to NEFA News, P.O. Box 4152 BV, Andover, MA 01810. Specify issue number(s) and quantity desired.

#	Date	Issue
1	July, 1988	Dave Johnson Got Married Tournament
2	Aug., 1988	Rhode Island States
3	Oct., 1988	NEFA Charter
4	Dec., 1988	Wachusett Mountain Applefest
5	Feb., 1989	Fisher's Island Sunshine Festival
6	June, 1989	Capron Classic
7	Sept., 1989	WAAF Summer Fling
8	Dec., 1989	13th Annual Mass. States
9	April, 1990	Amherst Indoor Freestyle and Accuracy
10	July, 1990	Pyramids Disc Golf
11	Oct., 1990	New England Flying Disc Championships
12	Feb., 1991	14th Annual Mass. States
13	June, 1991	Top Ten Responses
14	Aug., 1991	15th Annual Rhode Island States
15	Dec., 1991	Ice Platter Follies

Hot NEFA T-Shirts

100% cotton, teal blue color with action white hotstamp on back. Size Large, only a few left. Price: $8 NEFA members, $10 non-members.

1992 Canine Frisbee Schedule

Community competitions will be held this year at the following New England locations:

Date	Location	Contact
May 3	Danbury, CT	Fran Caco, (203) 748-8878
May 20	Branford, CT	Vic Amatori, (203) 488-8304
June 7	Norwich, CT	Ed Jakubowski, (203) 859-0103
June 16	Middletown, CT	Debbie Dennis, (203) 344-3473
July 4	Pelham, NH	Susan McInnis, (603) 635-2721
Aug. 7	Braintree, MA	Joseph Darche, (617) 843-0739
TBA	Coventry, RI	Mark Bates, (401) 822-9107

Ultimate Info

There is hunger for Ultimate in the Boston area, and lots of players are looking for organized play. A new non-profit organization called BUDA, the Boston Ultimate Disc Alliance, has been formed to coordinate Ultimate action in the area. BUDA sponsors benefit tournaments for local charities, youth leagues, summer leagues, and BACUL, the Boston Area Corporate Ultimate League. For more information about BUDA, contact Raphael Savir at (617) 489-2543. For BACUL info, contact Bruce Jacobson or Kathy Rowe at (617) 628-5678.

Announcements from Millis

There will be a Disc Golf Class sponsored by the Millis Recreation Department for all ages and abilities. It will be held at the High School on successive Thursday evenings, starting April 30 and running through June 4, from 5:30 to dusk.

On Saturday, April 25 at 3 p.m., there will be a Flying Disc Sports Demonstration at Millis Town Park. Freestyle, Distance, Maximum Time Aloft, Audience Accuracy, and K9 events will be featured.

A regional qualifier for the 1992 World Junior Frisbee® Disc Contest will be held in Millis on Sunday, May 17, from 1 to 4 p.m. This is the 24th year of Wham-O involvement, with Distance, Accuracy and Catching events.

For more information about any of the above, contact Todd Brodeur at (508) 376-8708.

Quiz:

At what upcoming event can disc golfers look forward to this inviting hole? Answer elsewhere in this issue.

Upcoming Events

When	Event
May 9	World's Biggest Disc Golf Tournament * Miantanomi Park, Newport, Rhode Island * Contact T. M. Dyer at (401) 846-3236 AND * Wachusett Mountain Ski Area, Princeton, Massachusetts * Contact Steve Hartwell at (508) 664-2888
May 30	Borderland Spring Fling (NEFA points) * Borderland State Park, Easton, Massachusetts * Disc Golf and Double Disc Court * Contact Greg Black at (617) 585-9568
June 6	Pyramids (NEFA points) * Southwick Homestead, Leicester, Massachusetts * Disc Golf and Freestyle * Contact Jason Southwick at (508) 798-0704
June 20	Princeton Doubles Championship * Princeton Town Forest, Princeton, Massachusetts * Mixed pair, random pair, and competitive pairs * Contact Sunny Cade at (508) 464-5497
July 7-11	World Seniors Championship * Rochester, New York * Full format, 7 event competition for ages 35+ * Contact Jim Palmeri at (716) 381-6000 x6520
July 18	Rhode Island Championships (NEFA points) * Miantanomi Park, Newport, Rhode Island * Disc golf, Distance and Freestyle * Contact T. M. Dyer at (401) 846-3236
July 20-26	U.S. Open Flying Disc Championships * Fort Collins, Colorado * Full format, seven event competition * Contact Bill Wright at (303) 484-6932
August 17-22	PDGA World Disc Golf Championships * Detroit, Michigan * Contact Duane Utech at (313) 656-5111
August 29-30	New Jersey State Championships * Brown's Point, West Milford, New Jersey * Golf, Discathlon, MTA, Freestyle * Contact Dan Doyle at (201) 728-7885
October 3	Cushing Invitational (NEFA points) * Disc Golf at "The Ledges", Newport, Rhode Island * Contact T. M. Dyer at (401) 846-3236

NEFA
P.O. Box 4152 BV
Andover, MA 01810