Club News of the Caped Cod Fish Golf Association:

The Equalizer Golf League will meet Wednesday Evenings. Score-keeping begins in mid-June. It works like this. You show up by 6 pm and grab a scorecard. Play the front nine. We gather up all the cards and make doubles teams like this: hi score plays with low score, 2nd highest plays with 2nd lowest, etc. If there's an odd number of players the guy in the middle plays with himself (I mean he gets to throw two discs on every shot). It's fun because new players benefit from the help of the pros - and the pro's score improves a little when they bury their shot in the woods and their partner saves the day. Come Wednesdays! Be Equal!

DGTV is now showing on our cable system (C3TV on the Cape). Produced in Indiana, its a zany half hour of flatball fun with new episodes every month. If your cable company has moved beyond the "Wayne's World" level of programming, this may not be for you. Otherwise, try contacting Dennis Byrne at 317.356.1459.

Our course is getting trashed and important people are noticing. Please: (1) Don't litter. (2) Pick up litter. (3) Guide trashers back to the path of cleanliness. I said PLEASE!

Solo Freestyle

Hello NEFA members;

There is a concept in freestyle which has barely been explored. Pairs and Co-op seem to be the natural way to freestyle to many, but for others, One player freestyle is the rule. I have done pairs and co-op, but to me, freestyle with just one player seems to be the best way to play.

I believe there is an old bias in the sport which says, "You need a partner to freestyle." That may have been true in the past but not anymore. Working the disc is the primary objective in freestyle, but the existing formats don't completely acknowledge that. Working with other players is fine for pairs and co-op, but there are elements to freestyle which don't become fully developed when there are only two or three players.

□ One player's artistic expression becomes totally unique to the routine.

You choose the very best music for your routine.

Your style doesn't blend with others.

□ The pace of the routine is quicker.

There is less performance "hang time" from throw to take.

This does alter the rhythm.

The routine can be choreographed better.

□ The greatest crowd reactions are mostly from the solo moves anyway.

□ This helps in marketing the sport.

It helps remove the image of a simple game of throw and catch.

Player rankings can be more precise when also factoring in solo routines.

There is better name recognition for a single performer.

For now, I hope it could be allowed in some pairs competitions. There could be a mandatory deduction for no co-ops as a way to get it started. That way people can see what the format has to offer. Pairs and co-op will always be around. Those formats are great too. I just want to help market the sport and expand on the concept of artistic expression.

This is something I really want to make happen. To me, single freestyle is the greatest way to play.

very sincerely,
Jerry Seidel
JSEIDEL@usa.pipeline.com

P.S. Please let NEFA know what you think.

So, how about it freestylers? Should tournaments have a singles division as part of the freestyle event, or have just a singles division for freestyle? Perhaps the tournament directors for the upcoming Vermont, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New England, and New York tournaments can think about Jerry's ideas. - Ed.

The World's Biggest Wiener

is and by Lev Malakhoff

I'm proud to say my best idea was to sell wieners this year (more on this later).

219 disc golfers turned out for Cape Cod's "World's Biggest" - braving the cool, sunny, showery, gusty weather to make Burgess Park a significant part of the global effort. This years' goals included attracting more local players (about 65-70% were from the Cape), raising funds for tee signs (over $400), and getting some good publicity for the Course (the local TV news aired two segments).

The event included a Saturday format open to all with eight prize winning divisions, a lottery-like rule where you could buy extra rounds (thereby increasing your chance of a winning score), and wieners for sale. Sunday afternoon we set up for a bus load of very enthusiastic school kids.

Biggest has been good to Burgess. In 93 our 216 players earned the park a free Polehole. A first place finish with 272 players in 94 earned nine more. We've been running tournaments since the first Biggest in 92, selling discs (and now the "World's Biggest Wiener for a buck") and had raised enough to buy two more. With all this outside support for the sport, the town recreation department was able to be convinced that finishing off the course with the remaining six was the right thing to do.

Even though the event is now a memory, you can still help the fund - and fulfill the need for tee signs. How much is it worth knowing that there will always be a "World's Biggest" Wiener waiting for you?

Send any monetary contributions (no meat products please) to:

The World's Biggest Report

by Nancy E. Donnelly Malakhoff

Kraig Steffen got off to a sizzling start in the Men's Open Division by posting birdies on five of the first six holes and never looked back as he cruised to a five under score of 49. Local player Gary Fermino's four birdies on the front nine kept him in contention as he finished at two under par. Stephen Erb was the final player in the division to finish under par at 53 while being closely chased by Lindsey Counsell, Jake Sias, and Scott Sherman all at even par.

Nancy Donnelly-Malakhoff turned a home course advantage into a win in the Women's Open Division with a score of 63. Runner-up Lori Andres started her round inauspiciously with a drive that only traveled about thirty feet before being stopped dead by a large tree. She recovered on the very next throw by rattling the chains with a spectacular birdie from the edge of the woods. That first hole proved decisive when she just edged out Lynda Verissimo in an armchair tie-breaker on the first hole. Both players posted solid scores of 66.

The Men's Intermediate Division took great advantage of the "Extra Rounds for a $1" rule with several players shooting as many as six or seven rounds. In the end, Jim Robinson prevailed with an excellent two under par 52 to top the division. David Desrvisseaux, also with 52, was edged out in the tie-breaker while Wayne Enos was proclaimed "Disc Golf Animal" for playing the most rounds enroute to his third place finish with a score of 53.

Robert Paolini had only a single bogey on the evil Hole #13 on his way to victory in the Men's Novice Division. The rest of his card was all birdies and pars as he finished with a five under score of 49 beating out Sean Hammond with a score of 51. James Sheehan pulled out a third place finish with a score of 54 while Tim Meagher, Matt Pare, and Dave Clark were in hot pursuit.

Randi Carapezza scorched the Women's Novice Division with five birdies and a final score of three under par for 51. Carol Hinton and Cathy Garry matched scores hole for hole on the front nine. Carol pulled away on the back nine and finished at 58 for second place while Cathy nailed down third place with a score of 60. The women made a very strong showing in a sport that usually sees tournaments with mostly men and just a handful of women playing. Over 60 women (including juniors) participated in this year's event.

The scores in the Junior Division varied as widely as the ages of the kids participating. Two future disc golf stars battled it out for first place; playing five rounds of golf each. Both Paul Craig and Ben Way turned in scores of 48 which beat all scores in the Men's Novice, Women's Novice and Senior Divisions. Paul Craig won the tie-breaker for first place honors, Ben Way placed second and Brendon Antel turned in a very strong 56 to claim third place.

Alex and Ila Malakhoff travelled all the way from Arlington, Virginia to capture first and third places, respectively in the Seniors division. The similarity in their last name and that of the tournament directors' is not coincidental. John Heslin threw the monkey wrench in their plans for a sweep and took second place honors with a score of 73.

Andrew Gray repeated his performance of last year with a big win in the Riverview School Division and a hot score of 59 on a very cool afternoon. Riverview School arrived at Burgess Park on Sunday for their annual BBQ and Disc Golf Outing. Battling stiff breezes, the kids managed to keep their golf discs right on course and turned in some excellent scores. Lindsay Schieffelin also posted a hot score of 59 taking second place after the tie-breaker while Jason Rankin was close behind with a 61 for third place. The top woman finisher at Riverview was Robin Batchelder with a great score of 66.

For the second year running, a contingent from the Cape Cod Ski Club led by Christina Houghton and Paul Kemprecos waltzed away with the "Disc Golf - More Fun than a Barrel of Monkeys" trophy. The nine-some captured the title when team member Katy Mauch admitted to hitting herself with her own drive. Runners-up in the most fun category and recipients of the coveted "Fish Can Fly" trophy was the Pommrehn family. Echoes of Sue Pommrehn's laughter are still reverberating over Hamblin Pond.

Last (in the Women's Novice Division) but certainly not least is Andrea Adams of West Barnstable who once again placed first in the Generosity Division with her annual donation to the Course Improvement Fund. Her efforts have helped to put Cape Cod on the map in the world of disc golf.

The Mystery of the Return of the Stolen Pole Hole

by Theo "Sunny" Cade

When I discovered a pole hole had been lifted from a disc golf course I attend, I felt raped. Inspired by hearing recent stories from Snapper Pierson that all purloined pole holes at his San Diego site, Morely Field, had eventually been recovered, I translated my anger and despair into, what turned out to be, effective action. I pass this experience along as suggested means to respond if, God forbid, the same should happen to you.

Putting myself in the mind of the thief, I figured he must have thought, "If I scoop this pole hole I can practice at home putting, etc. and improve my game over my competitors, so they will think I am extra cool every time I hit a tough shot I would have missed without the extra practice." To work against this idea, and get the pole hole back, I wrote the following note and put it on a wooden target wrapped in plastic to prevent rain from washing it out: "This target* is to replace the pole hole taken without permission. Hopefully it will be returned as soon as possible so everyone can enjoy it and the police won't have to be called in. "Two days later the pole hole was returned. I figured that the note would act as a counter motivator to the culprit, changing the feeling of being a hero to a goat and motivating the whole community to protect the integrity of the course in their desire to keep the fun of shooting at a pole hole rather than a puny stick. I am happy to report it worked. It seems to me that it will tend to restrain any other potential pole pilferers in the future.

*I assembled a 2 x 4 target with drywall screws and an electric screw gun in a half hour of fun in the workshop. It had 2 x 4's criss crossed for a base, and two 3-foot long 2 x 4's mounted vertically with tape half way up as a target.

Babies, babies, everywhere! Congratulations to Dale Fuller and Valerie Bowen on the birth of Samantha Ann Bowen on January 5, 1995 in Leominster, MA. Samantha weighed 8 pounds, 10 ounces. Congratulations to Dave Johnson and Joanie Simmons on the adoption of Robert Davis Johnson, born in Guatemala on July 15, 1994 (one day after DJ's birthday!). Already the baby has been given the nickname, Gordito, which means 'little fat one' in Spanish. Let's hope the name doesn't stick when he's old enough to play Guts!

Babies on the way? Not quite yet, but congratulations to Edwin 'Stick' Dissosway and Nancy Puzziferri on their June 17th wedding on Nantucket. Later this summer they plan on moving from their current home in Madison, WI to Alameda, CA, near Oakland.

Also moving is disc great Jeff O'Brien. Jeff recently moved from Mystic, CT to Washington DC. Jeff's accomplishments were many in NEFA-land. Now who's the best player in Connecticut? The disc golfer may not miss Jeff, but the freestylers will. Freestylers will also miss Jamie Chantiles. Jamie is moving from New York to Denver, CO. His occasional appearances at NEFA tournaments showed he is also a very good overall player, not just his jam-ability.

The 1995 Beaverbrook Disc Golf Championship

World's Biggest at Willowbrook Farms

South Windham, CT

by Brian C. Traichel

Well, it is the day after the World's Biggest and it really feels great to kick back. John Boukus and myself worked around the clock the last month or so getting ready for this past weekend. As most TDs know, the work load is tremendous and we were limited on labor. One always seems to ask themselves why the heck am I doing this. But as usual the end result makes it all worthwhile.

World's Biggest at Willowbrook Farms was the first time anyone has actually played the course. So the weekend served a dual purpose. One, our first tournament. Two, our grand opening. Pre-registration left me guessing about the turnout, because no one did, so I played the guessing game and lost. I only anticipated thirty, at most, people. What did I get? Seventy one is the total count. I was literally cleaned out of merchandise, substituting this, etc. The X-Streamline Disc Club would like to thank all those that participated and hope that you really enjoyed the course. I know I am very bias, but I love having this place and the work makes me appreciate it more. I hope that my other TD counterparts had a successful turnout as well.

The course record for the course is currently being held by Kraig Steffen with a two under par. I will mention the fact that three of NEFA's big guns came out and shot two over and they know who they are. But I must say the sun was great, but unfortunately the wind was very cruel. For those who would like to play, the course still will not be open to the general public based on some legal issues that must be ironed out. But I will give info as soon as we are open. Tentatively we are looking at only three days a week, but stay tuned.

In closing, I would like to say that it now has been about two years since I first played, one year since my first tournament and guess what? I'm not burnt out yet on this promotion stuff. It just keeps getting better. See everyone on the circuit.

Caped Cod Fish Golf Association

Despite raw weather conditions, twenty-two people showed up for the Normandy Farms Spring Fling. The NEFA Forum to discuss the format for the New England Championships was postponed. Twenty dollars was awarded to the best first round score and another $20 to the best second round score. The team of Anderson/Brodeur won both. Thirty dollars went to the first place winners in the Pro division. Second place received twenty dollars, and third place, $15. First place in the Amateur division received a three-foot high trophy. An eight inch pole hole trophy was awarded to second place.
